Dear Adrian

Thank you and Angela very much for your kind letter of condolence, and for your prayers.

Nick was a man of high intelligence and integrity, who often started from an unconventional and even other-worldly viewpoint. I remember the Acom incident well, and I seem to remember feeling obliged to join Nick voting on this issue - 2 against everybody else! He did not regard measures purely to control tax as worthy. His independence of mind, as you say, was endearing, although sometimes bothersome to others (including my dear parents).

In his teaching and in his E-books he has a great legacy; he was loving in his family, and much loved, and we will always remember him for his impact on our lives.

Yours

Anthony
