Dear Eliabeth,

Thank you for your sweet letter, and I can so easily understand the depth and quality of your relationship with Nick. He was such an able and multi faceted person, a natural leader and teacher, highly intelligent, yet highly practical (they don't always go together), and a person capable of deep and loving friendship, and of earning the love and friendship of others.

He brought much to the lives of many people - and you mention his work on Barra, which he loved.

He has always been an important part of my life, and it is such a pleasure to know of how much he meant to his family and close friends.

Thank you again for victims - much appreciated.

Yours ever

Anthony
